

NRC's Digital Division Begins Construction of AI Data Center

KYIV CITY, March 10, 2025 – Located in western Ukraine, near the Lviv conglomeration, the new data center will improve the region's technology infrastructure, offering high availability and services for hyperscale and enterprise clients.

The G² Center will provide AI-ready infrastructure to Ukraine, supporting AI and high-performance computing (HPC) workloads. The Data Center will feature cooling options, including direct liquid cooling (DLC) starting at 100kW per rack, in-row cooling and rear-door heat exchangers. Its fortified underground design will provide protection against physical and cyberthreats. NRC's industrial construction arm will construct the Center, with operations expected to begin in 2027.

Ismail Alikhanov, Head of Digital Assets at NRC., said: "The G² Center represents a bold step forward for Ukraine's digital infrastructure. As AI continues to drive innovation and economic growth, this facility will not only support the region's technological needs but also serve as a global benchmark for sustainable and secure data center design."
